HEADLINES and HIGHLIGHTS

By RAY BERNS

This Is IT !

Yes, everyone who has ever existed, at one time or another, has felt that their decade, their century was undoubtedly the most interesting period in world history.

And every war that has been fought has been the "bloodiest, most destructive war that mankind has ever seen," according to the world citizenry of that particular time.

But, make no mistake, lads and lassies—This Is IT!

What we are witnessing causes World War I and all wars preceding it to pale into insignificance.

For this brawl has the all selling points of previous wars—Death, destruction, famine, and the like—but, what is more important, is the final knock-'em-down drag-'em-out clash in the battle between two worlds, two systems of life.

Please don't for a moment, believe that in the event of an Axis victory this hemisphere is going to be allowed to remain at peace.

Isolationists, in this writer's humble opinion, are either fools, traitors, or short-sighted.

Just as an added bit of information, one might ponder over the geographical fact that there are approximately seven passes leading through the inland mountain ranges which connect the Pacific Coast with the rest of the United States. A few well-placed bombs, therefore, could very easily isolate this west coast.

And it might also be wise to think back on this country's past relations with Mexico and the countries of South America. A little reflection might reveal that their hearts are entirely filled with the love they profess for us.

One very important part of this country can be invaded and cut off; we have southern neighbors in whom we should like to believe but of who mwe must be wary; a man in Europe envisioning Continental triumph and domination is casting longing eyes at this rich country, and yet, some of our so-called greatest men are running about spouting that isolation, that neutrality is essential to the welfare of this country!

Ye Gods—what can they be thinking of!

World domination and rule by the ultimate victors is inevitable—it must needs be.

The German heritage is predominantly militaristic, cognizant of caste, cruel.

We foresee, in the event of an Axis victory, tyranical despotism in a world run by masters with three weapons, injustice intolerance, and slavery at their fingertips.

An Allied victory should mean an Anglo-American world rule, yes, but world rule with justice, tolerance, and the recognition of freedom.

The die must soon be cast.

* * *

Colonel Lindberg made a tour of inspection throughout Europe in 1936 and 1937 While there, Lindberg made a comprehensive survey of aircraft design, building, and the like, devoting the bulk of the survey to Germany because of their obvious superiority.

Colonel Lindbergh, on his return home to the United States, made a report to a Congressional committee on the advancement of aviation with suggestions as to how we might forward aviation in this country.

In that report, Lindberg very specifically stated that we should concentrate on design rather than production. Seemingly innocent, isn't it?—and good advice, to boot.

But it is the belief of this department that Colonel Lindberg, knowingly or unknowingly, was the tool by which one of the greatest pieces of propaganda, diplomacy, and strategy ever conceived, by Germany or anyone else, was foisted upon the American public and government.

Why? Because, between the years 1937-40 while we concentrated on design, Germany concentrated on production. As a result, they outstripped us 10-1 in the production of aircraft, and, even now, though we have our assembly lines, they are beating our time because of experience.

German Classes Open

Students wishing to take courses in German 2 and German 3, may sign up with Dr. Sommerville Thompson in Annex A1 as soon as possible. If a sufficient number are interested and sign up, German will be given as an extension course.

Rally Today; Monday Night Bowl Assembly

The Rally Bowl is going to be a place of feverish activity over the coming weekend, and the rallies scheduled for this afternoon and Monday evening will rock it to its foundations, according to Gordon Minor, acting director of the Rally Committee, and the man who is responsible for the Monday night affair.

This afternoon's event is a pre-game rally designed to send the football squad into Saturday's affray with San Francisco J. C. full of fire, ginger and the old school spirit. The attendance of every student is desired, and Yell Leader Ivor Callaway promises a hot and happy time, as witness the following presentations in the way of entertainment:

MANY ENTERTAINERS

Harold Jacobs, the familiar and favorite impersonator and funny man, who is well known to State students; Mort Steiner's solid four, whose efforts are certain to be approved by all, judging fro mtheir receptions at previous rallies; there will be a skit by students on the campus, and among those scheduled to appear for short talks are the prexy of S. F. J. C. and our own student body president, Jean Van Arsdale.

A short talk by Coach Dick Boyle and the appearance of the football team will further liven things up, and Callaway feels sure that the rally will do much towards giving the boys that needed fight. Among others, Ivor also promises a fine new yell and a surprising variation on the pep song.

The Monday night rally and dance is, however, the event to be looked forward to, take it from Gordon Minor. The rally will be held from 7 to 9 o'clock, in the bowl, the dance from 9 to 11 in the women's gym. Should a touch of bad weather appear, both events will be held in the gym.

Featured will be speakers Alexander C. Roberts, president of the college; Dr. William E. Knuth, and Student Body Prexy Jean Van Arsdale. The State College band is to be there, as well as Mort Steiner's boys and possibly the A Cappella choir. A popular vocal trio, composed of Dorothy Fretwell, formerly with Bob Crosby, Betty Rieza and Diana Gard, will give forth with melody, and the list will be augmented by Lee Lykins, entertainer, formerly with Horace Heidt and Victor recording artists.

MINOR CONDUCTS

Gordon Minor's 13-piece dance orchestra is the final touch of the evening, and Gordon predicts some fine music.

Admission to both the dance and the rally is free upon presentation of a student body card, or if you are without one, upon the tendering of the small sum of 25 cents.

War Cuts Student Body To Half Size

Enrollment of students for the present term has dropped considerably in comparison with last semester, according to Miss Vance, the registrar. Members of the faculty have been discussing the total amount of student body members whom they expect to be registered. Many believe that the number will total approximately 1700 or 1750 after a thorough survey is taken.

Students enrolled in the fall term of 1940 equalled 2027; students registered in spring of 1941 amounted to 1898.

Up to date, the number of students equals 1669.

Due to the sudden drop in registration at this college, because of the draft and outside employment, there is less housing trouble. Classroom facilities are much easier.

Student Body Members To Enjoy Term of Activity

Coming out of the executive offices this week is the entreaty that non-members of the student body lose no time in purchasing for themselves student body cards, and thereby reap many benefits.

Among the many features and privileges enjoyed by student body members are free admission to all the college athletic contests, or participation on any of these teams. With football and basketball seasons practically here, you can't afford to miss a single game.

WILL RECEIVE GATER

Also dependent on the ownership of a card is the privilege of running for student body offices, and of voting for anyone and everyone who runs for these positions. Also, and highly important if you intend keeping up with events on the campus, is the fact that you are entitled to receive every issue of the Golden Gater if you are a student body card holder.

TREASURER

Isadore Pivnick

Admission to all school dances, rallies, and social functions requires a card. No student is eligible to be rushed or pledged by any fraternity or sorority unless he or she is a member of the student body. Membership in campus clubs, participation in debating or journalistic work, employment on N. Y. A., all require that the student be a member of the student body.

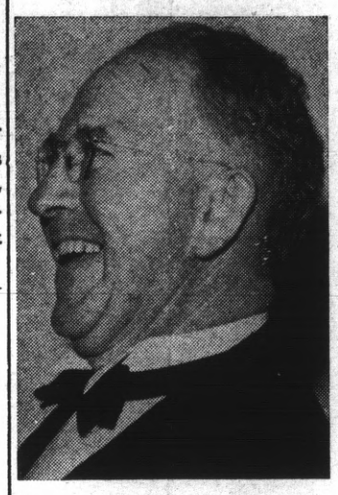
Accordingly, hustle to the student body office and purchase your card, if you haven't already. You will soon find that it is a wise investment, and you will become a true part of campus life.

Greetings From Dean Cox

Once again we start a new school year. This is a time when most students are inspired with hope, ambition, and a worthwhile educational goal. I sincerely hope that State students will not let present economic and political conditions prevent them from attaining the objectives they have set for themselves. I take pleasure in renewing friendly contacts with returning students and wish to extend a sincere welcome to those students who are with us for the first time. Let us all unite in that friendly and democratic spirit for which San Francisco State College is so well known.

DAVID J. COX,
Dean of Men.

President Roberts



Expressing his confidence in the students who have enrolled this fall at State, President Roberts today stated: "We recognize in you high quality and purpose."

FOR THE DAYS TO COME

Within these halls, the many activities of the modern college are swiftly and effectively getting underway. During all the depression years colleges and universities were crowded by students with nothing else to do and nowhere else to go. You are here despite the upsurge of wages and the abundance of work.

The faculty joins me in this special welcome. We recognize in you high quality and purpose. We believe that now is the time for you to press forward your college training. Doubtless, unless you get in a full year of good college work this year, you will not return to college and your chance will be gone.

We welcome you to our society of scholars, that you may gain power for the competition which will follow the close of the war. This is your day. Make the most of it.

ALEXANDER C. ROBERTS.

Freshman Elections Soon; Orientation Speeches Due

With Arnold Vezzani as chairman of the committee, Sigma Alpha Eta, campus fraternity, is this year taking charge of the Freshman elections, and will introduce the idea of holding them on a different date than the regular student body elections.

Presentation and discussion of their various platforms during orientation classes has been granted the candidates by Deans Mary A. Ward and Walter J. Homan. The officers to be elected are president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer. Petitions can be had by applying at the student body office, and they must be signed by at least 50 members of the freshman class.

It is important that all petitions be in by Monday, September 22, as the elections are to be on the Thursday following Voting will continue throughout the day, and should any discrepancies arise, Arnold Vezzani should be contacted.

Freshmen orientation classes will be addressed by leaders of student body affairs under the sponsorship of Sigma Alpha Eta fraternity, on Tuesday, September 23, according to an announcement made by Arnold Vezzani, chairman.

Representatives of both men's and women's athletic departments, music federation, art federatioon, dramatics, debate, radio, journalism student government and fraternity councils will be present to advise and acquaint the incoming freshmen with campus activity. ...

An annual affair, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Eta and in conjunction with Deans Homan and Ward, the addresses are offered to the orientation classes with the aim in mind of establishing frosh connections with campus groups as quickly and smoothly as possible.

Speakers will be chosen and their names announced in the next issue of the Gater, Vezzani said.

Forensics Head Into New Season; Debate Planned

State's Debating Society is looking forward to another season which they hope will be as successful as the one just concluded. So far this year, Forensic council has won the first place symposium plaque awarded by KSFO, of the Columbia Broadcasting System. This award was supplemented by a second place won during the meeting of the Western Association of Speech at Pepperdine, and a three-way tie for third place at the College of the Pacific. Another feat was the "Young America Speaks" program, which ran for 42 consecutive weeks over KSAN.

High point of the activities for this fall is the meeting of the Western Speech Conference at Denver during Thanksgiving, to which Forensic Council is planning to send two or three teams. This will be followed by the Speech High School Tourney, which will again be held in San Francisco under the sponsorship of San Francisco State.

President Richard Date announced the formation of three new teams. Their members include: Tilden and Perry, Bennett and Ruge, and Rogers and Wong. Richard Rafael is the vice-president, and Arnold Vezzani is the secretary-treasurer.

Prospective debaters are invited to a meeting on Tuesday, September 23, 1941, at 11 o'clock, in Room 10, Annex A.

Besides the trip to Denver there are many other events coming up in the near future. To mention a few, there are the monthly debates with the University of California, Stanford, and St. Mary's; the continuation of the "Young America Speaks" program over KSAN; symposiums over KSFO in competition with most Bay Area college debating societies, and a series of discussions over KFRC.

Those interested in debating, call at Room 6, Annex A, anytime. Forensic Council wants new members.

Physical Exams Now!

All men in the college are required to take the health examination annually. Men who last took the examination during Fall 1940 or before are now due.

Failure to meet this requirement will result in a fine of one dollar (($1.00.)

Schedule of examinations to be given in the Men's Training Quarters follows:

Wed. Sept. 24, 12-1 p. m.
Wed. Oct. 1, 12-1 p. m.

Dean Ward Wishes to Greet You

September 17, 1941

As Dean of women, I would like to meet all freshmen and new transfer students as soon as possible. Our office is always open and we are never too busy to greet YOU. Come in for a few minutes' chat.

MARY A. WARD.

Nicoloff, Foppiano, Pivnick in Major Council Positions

Ending the first week of regular session, the student Executive Board is just emerging from a fog which has surrounded student body administration since the close of last semester.

Ed Barry, last semester elected president of the student body, was drafted in June, leaving the student body with no prexy and no constitutional provision covering such an emergency. It was only by a special meeting of the Executive Board that Jean Van Arsdale, vice-president, was appointed to the presidential post, and Vi Nicoloff was selected to replace her in the vice-presidential position.

This move places the three top student positions in the hands of women students, as the job of secretary is also handled by a girl, Dorothy Foppiano. It also leaves Isadore Pivnick, treasurer, the only man in the student body office.

Although the appointments have cleared up the mystery concerning major student positions, there still remain complications as to the identity of many of the student representatives serving on the Executive Board.

Functioning under the new constitution, Board members are appointed by the extra-curricular groups which they represent. Student body vice-president serves as commissioner of social activities, and the treasurer is head of the finance committee. Other appointed representatives are John Pichotto, publications; Curt Buttles, A. M. S.; Pat Gillick, A.W.S.; Herb Simon, art; Gloria Essman, W.A.A.; and Dick Gordon, music.

Groups who have not yet selected representatives are speech-arts, athletics, and clubs. Rally commissioner will determine by a special election to be held soon.

Ivor Callaway, head yell-leader, sits on the Board but does not vote. He has selected Gordon Mailloux and Al Mabey as his assistants.

Another factor of confusion that had to be faced at the first Board meeting was the resignation of Hal Martin, publicity director. Appointed in Martin's place was Dave Schutes, former State student, active in publications. To assist him with photography are John Pichotto and Fred Hanson.

Because the new constitution provides for only four class presidents, in lieu of the eight who formerly reigned, three prexies, Norman Keller, freshman; Kenny Young, sophomore; and Manuel Morena, junior; end their term of office rather abruptly. The four new presidents will be determined by an election to be announced soon by the Board.

First Ex-Board Meeting Held; Minor Gets Funds

At its first regular meeting of the Fall semester on Monday the Executive Board was introduced to the new Director of Student Affairs and Publicity Dave Schultz.

Another important piece of business was the granting of the sum of $73 to Gordon Minor and his orchestra for the rally on Monday night, September 22.

Izzy Pivnick, treasurer, suggested that meetings be held once a week and offering more would prove more successful.

After President Jean Van Arsdale had called the meeting to order, the tentative date for class elections was set as September 25. Freshmen nominations, however, will follow a different procedure this semester. They will be held during orientation classes.

It was decided that all persons chosen to be on any committees must have a Student Body card and a "C" average.

Dances were given a boost when it was decided that all those given after a football game would be sponsored by the Student Body.

It was reported that the A. W. S. would hold its first meeting this week. Gloria Essmann reported that the W. A. A. is to have a rally within the next two weeks.

It was suggested that all class officers have their petitions in this Friday, except freshmen.

Due to the rally Monday, the next Executive Board meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 5:30.

Dean Ward Lends Hand In A. W. S. Activity Outline

During its first meeting of the new semester, held last Wednesday afternoon, the Associated Women Students, with the aid of Dean Mary A. Ward, outlined plans for coming activities. First big event is the semi-annual Freshman Reception, sponsored by the A. W. S., to be held in the Frederic Burk Auditorium on Wednesday, September 24, from 4:00 to 6:00 p. m.

The purpose of the reception is to acquaint new students with faculty and student leaders, as well as with each other. Invitations are being given out to freshmen by means of the orientation classes, and an attempt is being made to contact all new transfer students in order that they may receive invitations. New students who have not received them are urged to notify Dean Ward before Wednesday. Although classes will not be dismissed for the afternoon, it will be possible for invited students to attend the reception at any time between 4 and 6.

Decorations are being made by the Art Federation in a theme of blue and gold. Doris Colter, chairman of the reception committee, is planning to make the affair a very interesting and enjoyable one.

Plans are also being made by the A. W. S. for the establishment of a local Red Cross unit, details of which are to be announced later.

A persistent drone could be heard coming from Room 219 Monday. Glancing into the room, you would have discovered that no bees were present, however, but only a sleeping English 157 class being lectured to by Dr. Cassady.

Important New Committee Forming

The Social Activities Council is one of the eleven new councils provided in the new Constitution of San Francisco State College. It will act as a coordinating body for all social activities presented by the Associated Students. Vi Nicoloff, the Vice-President of the Associated Students, will act as committee chairman. The four people who will be elected class presidents at the coming election and four members selected from the Student Body by Miss Nicoloff will form the committee.

Immediately after the membership of the committee is determined, it will formulate plans and present them along with an itemized budget for this semester to the Executive Board for its approval. Most of the work will be carried out by sub-committees of the Social Council.

To Begin With

It is with all the pleasurable anticipation of a man bound for the gallows that the new Gater editor begins his short career as a purveyor of editorial opinions.

To the ordinary reader, (as it has been to us), those who sat in the seats of the mighty in journalism seemed endowed with a God-given talent of identifying Righttousness and Justice plus a keen ability to trumpet loudly their doctrine of inviolate accuracies.

Frankly, the new editor has no such illusions. The journalistic mill has ground him into a mechanical atom who realizes only too well that his beliefs and ideas carry no more weight or intelligence than those of any one else, and very frequently much less.

This is no apology, but an honest statement of fact. The editor intends to act only as a pin setter of ideas and questions, and anyone is entitled to fire away at any editorial comment.

One thing should be noted. That is, that tar and feathers are not being worn this year in the better social strata and that Mrs. Emily Post frowns on the mailing of black widow spiders, Gila monsters, poison gas, etc., to those with whom one might differ.

So if there should be any violent difference of opinion the editor can be reached on any comfortable southbound freight the day after publication.

Her Excellency, Miss President

Through the courtesy of the Congress of the United States and the Selective Service Act, San Francisco State has been awarded the privilege of being one of the very few colleges in existence to have as president of the student body what some people term, a mere woman.

Miss Jean Van Arsdale, a very capable and attractive young lady, assumes the presidency vacated by Ed Barry and, in the opinion of the Gater, the student body is very fortunate in acquiring her services.

To the new chief of student body affairs and the Executive Board, the Gater promises all-out support in matters relating to general student body welfare and wishes them the best in their administrational duties.

Incidentally, even if the Gater thought differently, which it certainly does not, who ever won an argument with a woman?

A Word About Cutting

Being on uncertain ground and wishing to be very careful not to tread on any sensitive toes, it would probably be well to await student opinion on the new cutting of classes ultimatum handed down by the faculty.

On the surface and without an intent of violent outburst, the measure might be termed unconstructive. Admitting the leniency of the program, it is very doubtful if compulsion will solve the problem that faces the faculty.

Besides detracting from the true collegiate attitude and applying primary methods to a college, there is still the old proverb about "leading a horse to water," that applies.

Any prof will admit that he has three or more types of students The real students who would be there at any event; the student who fears the shipyards and work more than the terrors of learning; the one who finds the monotony of the classroom conducive to rest and sleep, and other assorted brands.

This is not censure, but only preliminary observation. Until the reaction, we will bide our time. If it fails, the faculty might try putting on a floor show with each class, or giving away dishes at the door or having bank days to lure the errant ones.

Assertion or Dessertion of Principle

The prospect of a hole in the pampered heart of San Francisco's too-ultra shopping and wining center sent the blood pressures of the city's striped-pants boys to exemption heights the other day when it was found that the Union Square patented garage-and-bomb shelter was to be delayed because of defense priorities on steel. So the apoplectic ones, temporarily laying aside their sacrificing natures, promptly pressured the newspapers to do something and fast. The press blasted OPM and got the steel.

The housing projects, however, had no champions. The power of the press depends upon whether the pressure behind it is economic or humanitarian. The latter isn't very popular in these days of profits.

Anti-Semitism: A Challenge to American Tolerance

By CARLO L. LASTRUCCI, Dept. of Sociology

The Nazi phelisophy of so-called "Aryan superiority" has unleashed reigns of terror formerly associated only with the Dark Ages and the Inquisition; yet the persecution of minority groups as political "whipping boys" is a leadership device as old as man. Even here in America we have had our share of it, and Negroes, Chinese, Japanese, Catholics, Jehovah's Witnesses are only a few of the many groups which have at times felt the whiplash of intolerance. But the present scale of anti-Semitism (hatred of the Jews) threatens to dwarf all previous efforts at subjugation.

It is purely academic to argue that most groups selected as "whipping boys" (i. e., groups upon which the blame for a people's miseries is placed) do not deserve the charges made against them. The fact remains that the average man does not bother to reason out the arguments, slogans, catchwords and shibboleths hurled at him by scheming orators. The unthinking man in the street wants a simple answer to tremendously complex social problems, and the shrewd political leader soon learns to find such an answer. Such is the case with anti-Semitism.

The selection of the Jewish people—whether by Hitler, Mussolini or an American Fascist—as the modern "whipping boy" is justified by two major arguments, both of which are insidiously false. The first argument is that "Jewish international bankers" are the cause of all social ills, whether they be wars, depressions or famines. Such an argument, as any student of world affairs knows, is childishly stupid. "International bankers," if such a group actually exists, are no more Jewish than they are Catholic, Protestant or atheist. Furthermore, historians know that no single group actually "starts" a war; rather, war is simply the physical culmination of increasing political dissatisfaction. Bankers don't start wars, and the majority of bankers are not Jewish.

The second argument is even more insidious than the first. Supported by pseudo-scientific verbage, it is based upon the egotistical, but erroneous belief that a certain group is inherently superior to all others by virtue of its biological heritage. This idea is old; Hitler has simply utilized it more effectively than have its previous proponents. But any doctrine of so-called racial superiority or inferiority is sheer scientific nonsense. As any reputable scientist well knows, there is not a shred of evidence that significant racial differences of ability exists. Furthermore, the mere contention that the Jewish people are a distinct racial group is patently as inane as the contention that the German (or any other) people are biologically a "pure" racial group. Racial "purity" was lost centuries ago, if it ever did actually exist.

Yet the fact remains that not only in Nazified Europe but even here in America, the spectre of anti-Semitism has appeared on the immediate social horizon. Rabble-rousers and would-be Fascists are appealing to ignorance and intolerance with the lure of a Utopia organized in a rigid caste system. One is dismayed that so many Americans can be so easily fooled by this fanatical, yet horrible device of prejudice and malevolence.

ONCE again we settle down to the everything but humdrum life that is college. We of State, though neglected and unfortunate in many ways, are overly fortunate in the fact that we have so many chances to grow culturally and artistically in this rich cultural center that is San Francisco.

Among the musical celebrities scheduled to visit San Francisco this year, are Lily Pons, Lawrence Tibbett, Gladys Swarthout, and Ezio Pinza in the opera field, and Marion Anderson, Oscar (Information Please) Levant, and Jose Iturbi in the concert field. Many other well known artists will contribute to make this one of San Francisco's finest musical years.

The San Francisco String Quartet will open its seighth season on Friday evening. September 26. The program will include the "Quintet in D major" by Mozart, "Quartet in F major" by Vittorio Rieti, "Quintet in F major" by Brahms. The second concert of the series will take place on Friday evening, November 28. All the concerts will be held in the Veteran's Auditorium.

The San Francisco Opera Company is presenting an opera which has never before been done in San Francisco. "Simon Boccanegra" is the opera and the cast will include such notables as Tibbett, Pinza, and Jaegel. Another opera, "The Daughter of the Regiment," will be done for the first time by the San Francisco Opera Company and will include in the cast the petite Lily Pons in the title role.

SNOOPIN' AROUND

YE who have not set eyes upon this department before, take heed, bend an ear in this direction, listen with all your might, for the Gater herewith goes through with its customary practice of reviewing the summer months, and presenting for the edification of all and each pertinent facts relative to the behavior of some of the individuals attending this institution, while engaged in their summer pursuits.

Well, inhibited by this tradition of the past, the column plunges bravely in—hold tight. . .

YAWNING IN YOSEMITE

Joe Edelstein, in between meals at Camp Curry, where he was one of those very dapper bus boys. . .

Bob Cummings, getting slightly more roly-poly as he worked at the bake shop at Curry. . .

Jack Carolan, extremely Esquirish as he desk-clerked at Camp 16, with, oh, such a debonair manner. . .

Marg Finck, also employed at Curry, looking very, very bored as she waited for Werner Steinbach to get through with his lifeguard duties for the day at the Curry pool. . .

Bruce Bonner, man-of-all-trades at the Ahwahnee, giggling at Dot Franklin and Norm Crane as they giggled at the firefall burning its way down from Glacier Point. . .

That very rugged trio — Tilly Rastad, Gerry Polite, and Bee Cleary, looking not so rugged as they camped in the wilderness of one of the public camps. . .

TAHOE TERROR . . .

Such was Curt Buttles, holding down a very responsible position at a very responsible institution up there around the northern part of the lake . . . what was the name Curt? We'll keep it a secret. . .

Alice Glasko also spent several weeks up at the Sierra lake. . .

MEXICO MEANDERERS . . .

Big Bill Stein and Bouncing Bob Buckley . . . took Mexico by storm. Came home with sunburns, fancy Mexican shoes that didn't fit, (60 cents did you say, Bob?) shirts that blind you, and all kinds of tall stories. . .

Still in Mexico is Archie Steinbach, who left from working at Yosemite to head directly south. . .

ALL OVER THE PLACE . . .

Into the wilderness above Victoria, British Columbia, went Bill McKay to spend a week hunting, fishing, loafing, as the world rushed by in its never-ending hurry. . .

The golden-topped, bronzed life guard up at Pinecrest? Who was it? Oh, Fred Hinze, breaking the female hearts as usual. . .

Also at Pinecrest during the summer were Doris Barber and George Youngdale, the very petite Bettina Golden, and Ginny Huff. . .

And spending her days of rest in the Sierras was the exotic lass with the alphabet soup name—Petronella Hepzibah Mortigia, more familiarly known as Pet—she was up a Angels Camp. . .

At Diable Country Club . . . Terrible Terry Kilpatrick, making the customers chuckle merrily as he went through with his duties as self-appointed master of ceremonies. . .

Then there was Jack Gilkey, who was plumber, carpenter, brick layer, general handyman for about five different jobs during the vacation. . . And Betty Pospisil, who was counseling at a Santa Cruz mountain camp. . .

And many others, some working, some just vacationing, some just loafing. . . Some omitted here because of lack of space in this column. . .

If not busy next week, take a peek at this column again for some candid informal opinions of the new students who came in this term, also opinions from these students concerning State and their new enviroments. See you next week.

COLLEGE OUTLOOK

Dear Freshmen:

EACH year, upper classmen of the College observe, in alternate moods of despair and hope, the admission of another freshman class.

They recall other frosh groups—remember their own—and, in making comparisons, imagine they see a downward trend in general potentialities.

Each new class, to them, is more naive, immature—less capable of achievement.

But, as we have said, the venerable upper classmen are not without hope. And when this second mood comes to the surface, they manifest an attitude of protection and guidance toward the campus rookies.

They counsel, or want to, counsel you—to warn of the bumps and gaps and fogs and lack of signposts on the highway of academic education—to advise that you begin work, hard work, at the start and avoid years of struggle to remove low grade averages—to strive for an education as well as a degree—to plan for utilization of your enlightenment—to couple your ambitions with your ideals—and they at last admit, in a whisper, that the tendency of progress is forever existant in the realm of education—that you will be better scholars than they.

NEW FACES BOLSTER STATE'S GRID HOPES

As We SEE 'EM

By Walter Addiego . . .

We frankly admit that up until a few weeks ago we wouldn't have given a Japanese quarter for State's chances on the gridiron this season. In fact, the situation became so grave at one point that we fear—like others—that State would abolish the sport, and, in all probability, instigate a game that required less muscle co-ordination, a laxity in body contact, or fall back on the old reliable six man poker.

But lo and behold, after practically filling the military quota for the San Francisco area, and after losing their prize publicity package, Chad Reade, State turns up with what many students refer to as the "Best team in the school's history."

Now, the words "Best" and "History" take in a great deal of territory, we must admit, so we're letting it go at that. Far be it from us to disillusion such a fine body; in fact, to prove our worth, we somehow managed to get in touch with Henry Morgenthau Jr. and float a loan that totaled to the amount of $1.50. This we immediately exchanged into the smallest coin (coppers exclusive), and proceeded to take on all backers.

So, with the grand total of $1.50 backing up State's football squad against Lee Esians charges, we can't for the life of us see how State can lose tomorrow night.

Aside from all this, manage, if possible, to catch a glimpse of State's schedule for the season. If we aren't stepping up into the big time, then Malettoff didn't throw the stones into Mrs. O'Toole's clam chowder.

What we once referred to as a pre-season warmup team—Moffett Field — now springs up as a "Coache's dream team."

What with two All-Americans and four all-coast players filling the Moffett Field Roster, we should think thtt Boyle would be at this moment displaying a brow saturated in wrinkles. Instead Master Boyle turns right around and schedules a game with Mather Field.

One name on the Mather lineup is enough to throw any grid mentor into raging convulsions. That name is Jim Kisselburgh, former Oregon State fullback. is linesmashes, his passes, his kicking made him one of the outstanding players on the Pacific Coast last year.

Star Athlete Back; Kaufman Succeeds Kupfer as Aide

Ray Kaufman, famous athlete of 1935, returns to San Francisco State College this fall, succeeding Don Kupfer, who was inducted into the U. S. Army under the Selective Service Act.

Kaufman, for the past four years has been grid mentor at Avenal High School, where his teams have won three league championships. His duties, it is believed, will be handling wrestling, various gym classes, and intermural sports.

Despite contradictory reports, Bill Stein, present aide to Dick Boyle, will remain as varsity line coach.

As an end on the earliest football teams in State's history, and as a forward in basketball, and all-around man on the track squad, Kaufman's name became a byword when young and old talk about State athletics.

At the time of this writing Kaufman had yet to make his initial appearance, but Dean Cox assured a number of students that he (Kaufman) would be here.

"As soon as his duties at Avenal High are taken care of, he will be here," said Dean Cox, taking over the wrestling class in lieu of Kaufman. "I don't know when he'll be here, but he will—soon," said Cox.

WANTED: Grid Managers! URGENT!

A call for all loyal Gaters was voiced today by the entire football team. The team is in dire need of football managers, and should any young, healthy, student—experienced or inexperienced—wish to be a main factor in the team's high morale, SEE COACH DICK BOYLE. AND IMMEDIATELY!

Barbara Krase, well known winner of many tennis tournaments, has enrolled with us this fall.

Intra-Schedule Awaits Drafting By New Coach

With the expected arrival of Coach Ray Kaufman, who succeeds Don Kupfer as boxing and wrestling coach and intramural head, one of the fall's most popular sports, intramural football will swing under way.

P. E. class clubs and other campus organizations will soon receive their entry blanks for participation in this year's tourney.

All teams will field an eight man squad and will play on the Upper field.

Among the more prominent clubs expected to participate are the O.M.A.C., defending champions; Sigma Pi Sigma, Newman Club and many other fraternity and P. E. groups.

Athletic Council Directs Sports In New Set-up

A driving factor behind the San Francisco State College athletic teams is the Athletic Council. The Council is composed of the student body president, a Block S representative, and the coaches and managers of the various athletic teams.

The functions of the Council are to determine the athletic policies of the college, the giving of awards to athletes and making recommendations to the administration.

Dean David J. Cox, in a recent interview, stated that the first meeting of the group will take place in the near future.

Soccer Aspirants Sign For Work; Finn, Kenny Coach

Draft or no draft, San Francisco State is going to have one of the best soccer squads in the history of the school and possibly the best team in the league, according to John Finn, head promulgator.

Following a meeting of team members Tuesday, Finn and Coach Jerry Kenny found themselves with six of last year's first-string varsity men, many second-stringers, and the possible services of two outstanding players not with the team last year.

Howie Hall, former Lowell soccer ace, and Frank Schembre, varsity star of several years ago, are both back in school and will probably turn out for practice this week.

Besides this stellar line-up, State will have many new men to donate a lot of fight to the team. Finn feels that if they can present such a first-string line-up of veterans, they will not have to worry about California or Stanford or any of thebig-name schools in the league. Because soccer is a sport which enables a team to play throughout the game without substitution if necessary.

Also planning to come out for the noble dribbling game are Jack McGann, Jim Keating, Emil Fanfelle, and Neil Harriman, all outstanding athletes in other sports. No wonder John Finn is beaming.

The first-string men back this year are John Finn, Manuel Morena Archie Steinbach, Werner Steinbach, Curt Buttles, and "Pete" Peterson. These boys proved themselves an outstanding working unit last year and should click together again this season.

Moffet Field on Gater's Schedule

Despite various changes in the lineup of games scheduled for Coach Dick Boyle's gridders, a final schedule has been arranged, and it is hoped that it will be permanent.

When Moffett Field notified Boyle that they had canceled their October 4th engagement and had agreed instead to play St. Mary's, it looked as though there would be a hole in the schedule. However, Mather Air Field of Sacramento was contacted and a substitution was made. Moffett was changed to the 18th, a previously open date.

The schedule to date follows:

September 20—S. F. J. C. at Seals Stadium; September 27—Humboldt State at Eureka; October 4—Mather Air Field; of Sacramento, at Seals Stadium; October 10—San Mateo J. C. at Seals Stadium; October 18—Moffat Air Field at Seals Stadium; October 25—La Verne College at La Verne; October 31—Cal. Poly at San Luis Obispo; November 7—Chico State at Seals Stadium

W.A.A. Rally Tuesday

All State's sportswomen will be interested in the rally W. A. A. is holding Tuesday evening, September 23 in Frederic Burk Auditorium, at 7:15. The sports schedule will be completed at this meeting. A tentative schedule is listed below:

Tennis	Friday 8, 9, 10
Fencing	to be decided
Hockey	Monday 4
Volleyball	Tuesday 11, 12
Bowling	Sunday 10
Badminton	Thursday 12
Swimming	Friday 6:30
Kappa Delta Tau	Wednesday 7

Terrible Turk

Five feet, eight inches tall, and weighing only 160, is Dynamite "Turk" Terzian, former U. S. F. frosh. He is reputed to be a better than average passer, and is being counted on for stellar work against State tomorrow night.

San Diego State Faces Tough Year; Few Veterans

San Diego, Sept. 19.—Coach Leo Calland of San Diego State opened what Aztec football followers hope will be his "lucky seventh" season when he sent an initial turnout of 19 varsity candidates through an hour-long calisthentic and warm-up drill. About 14 more squad men were expected to check in by the end of the week.

Only four of Calland's six 1940 returning lettermen were on hand for the first practice, they being Frank Diamond, 220 pound guard, and Bob Cozens, Bill Goodchild, and Bob Merchant, all halfbacks. George Kita, quarter, and Joe Seminario, State's other 1940 stripe winners returning, missed the first session, as did Bill Kruse, center, who gained a varsity letter in 1939 but did not last fall.

A number of outstanding junior college transfers were on hand for the first workout, the list including Sherwood Parker, 208 pound tackle from Compton J. C., Bob Beckman, tackle, Riverside Junior College; Bob Homesley, tackle, Long Beach J. C.; Clyde McKay, 5 feet 10 inches, end, also from Long Beach, and Bob Johnson, end, from Pomona Junior College.

San Diego State will open its 1941 schedule of 10 games Sept. 26, when Pomona's Sagehens come south for their annual contest under the lights of the Aztec Bowl.

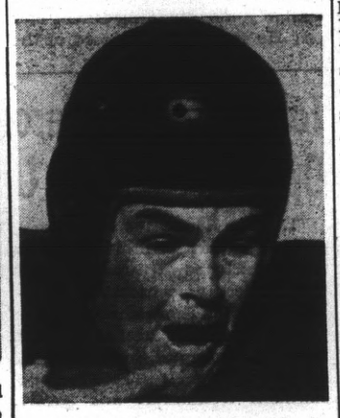
Gaters Ready For S.F.J.C.; Boyle Depends on Line

One of the big questions floating the campus these days isn't whether the Brooklyn Dodgers will win the National League pennant this year, in fact, the question doesn't at all pertain to baseball; instead, the big question is:

"What happens when two ex-rival grid stars meet again as coaches on rival teams?"

The answer is.....

Continuing a rivalry that started way back in college, Dick Boyle, former Blue Ghost from St. Mary's and Lee Eisan, Little General from U. C., tomorrow night pit their skill and intelligence in the medium of their varsity stars when State's Purple and Gold clash with the Red and White of S. F. J. C.



Fred Hinze, Quarterback.

Fred Hinze, the little corporal in charge of State's signal corp, is being relied upon to bring home a victory in this the initial encounter of the 1941 season. Captain Hinze is suffering from a swollen ankle, but is expected to be in there barking out the signals when game time rolls around.

The backfield is no problem to Boyle. He has chunky Fred Hinze, veteran quarterback, and Dave Schiller, standout fullback of a year ago. In the other positions, Boyle is relying on new material. In the important lefthalf spot, there's Dan Halstead, last year's second string and Bob Stine, passing ace from Sacramento way. At right half, Bill Horner seems to be the logical candidate.

Many more men, all new or small, are fighting for backfield posts. Gridley Dorr, Dick Chinn, Ernie Leydecker, Al Vladimeroff, Don Forbes and "Hank" MacMillan, may prove themselves in this first game.

Unusual this season is Boyle's new offense involving an unbalanced line and a man in motion. If practice scrimmage is of any worth, it looks like Quarterback Hinze is going to be a very busy man, come Saturday night.

If the team is not hit by any serious injuries, Boyle may be able to field a line of over 200 pounds per man. Lorbeer, Lee and Lang, three ends all fighting for top spots, run over 190 pounds apiece. Pete Mirande and Den Gomes, mainstays in the tackle spots, both hit about 215. Perry and Gray (or Suttles) just better the 200 mark to fill the guard positions. And Mueller, at center, carries about 195.

Over on the J. C. side, Coach Lee Esian has lost most of last year's veterans and is building a team around two men, Armond "Terrified Turk" Terzian, former U. S. F. frosh, and Art Eckdall, ex-prep star from the city.

A late comer to the State squad, "Tex" Taylor, ex-J. C. star, has been practicing with the squad and may se action at spacious Seals' Stadium tomorrow night.

Stanford University, Sept. 19.—Jimmy Coffis, former Stanford grid star, was appointed assistant to Harry Shipkey, Stanford freshmen coach, it was announced.

Coffis, who was enrolled here at State last term, doing post graduate work for a special credential in physical education, will take over immediately, and it is assumed, will devote his time to backfield men only.

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENTS OF SAN FRANCISCO STATE COLLEGE

PREAMBLE

We, the students of San Francisco State College, in order to promote, control and integrate student activities and government as delegated by the President of the College, do hereby establish this Constitution.

ARTICLE I

Name, Colors, and Membership

1. This organization shall be known as the Associated Students of San Francisco State College.

2. The colors of the Association shall be purple and gold.

3. All registered students of San Francisco State College who have paid the required dues for this organization shall become members of this Association, and, as such, shall be eligible to hold office in (see Art. 5, Sec. 3), and enjoy the privileges of this Association.

4. The symbol of this organization shall be the Alligator.

ARTICLE II

Officers

1. The officers of this Association shall be:

(a) A President who shall be a member of the senior class for at least one semester of his term in office. He shall be the chief executive and official representative of the Association. He shall have the duty of supervising, directing, and coordinating all of the Association's work and shall take all steps necessary to that end. He shall preside at all meetings of the Association and shall be chairman of the Executive Board.

(b) A Vice-President who shall be a member of the senior class for at least one semester of his term in office, and who shall assume chairmanship of the Social Activities Council. He shall assume the duties of the President during his absence.

(c) A Secretary who shall be at least of junior standing during one semester of his term in office. He shall keep a record of the proceedings of the Association and perform such duties as may be allotted him by the Executive Board.

(d) A Finance Commissioner who shall be at least of junior standing during one semester of his term in office. He shall be chairman of the Finance Council, and, as such, shall sign all checks and vouchers made out on the Association, in conjunction with the Comptroller.

(e) A Rally Commissioner who shall be at least of junior standing during one semester of his term of office. He shall be chairman of the Rally Council, and, as such, shall be responsible for, and in charge of all rallies, excursions, and deputations.

(f) And all other members of the Executive Board. They will carry out their duties, however, according to the policies of their respective councils.

ARTICLE III

The Executive Board

1. Composition.

The Executive Board shall consist of:

(a) The President of the Associated Students.
(b) The Vice-President of the Associated Students.
(c) The Secretary of the Associated Students.
(d) The Finance Commissioner.
(e) The Rally Commissioner.
(f) The President of the Associated Men's Students who shall act as chairman of the Associated Men's Students Council.
(g) The President of the Associated Women's Students who shall act as chairman of the Associated Women's Students Council.

2. Duties.

The Executive Board shall be the administrative and legislative body of this Association and, as such, shall be responsible for, and in charge of all policies, properties, and monies of the Association.

3. Meetings.

The Executive Board shall meet once each week while the College is in session, and, in addition, shall hold special meetings whenever it is deemed necessary. Eight members shall constitute a quorum. Any member who shall have been absent from any three meetings without accepted excuse during any one semester shall forfeit his seat. The Executive Board is hereby authorized to take such steps as may be necessary to fill any such vacancies.

ARTICLE IV

Nominations and Elections

1. The following officers shall be elected by the Associated Students: President, Vice-President, Secretary, Finance Commissioner, and Rally Commissioner.

A Head Yell-Leader will also be elected by the Associated Students, but he will not sit as a member of the Executive Board nor be considered an Officer of the Associated Students.

2. The officers of the Associated Men's Students and Associated Women's Students will be elected by their respective groups at the Associated Students' election.

3. All nominations for both Associated Students and Associated Men's and Associated Women's Students officers and the position of Head Yell-Leader shall be made through petition, such petition to be signed by at least fifty (50) members of the Associated Students.

(a) In order to be eligible for an Associated Students, an Associated Men's Students, or an Associated Women's Students office, a candidate must have passed in at least ten units of work during the previous semester and must have maintained a "C" (1.0) or better average during his college career.

BERNS... In the Belfry

Let's all clap hands and shout with joy for we have it on good authority (Dr. Ivan Tanglefoot N. G.) that a new department is to be added to the college curriculum next semester.

According to the plans being set, the new division will carry with it the title "Espionage" and will be subdivided into many parts.

ESPIONAGE

101A—Elementary Sabotage—The gentle art of becoming a saboteur. You, too, can learn basic fundamentals of sabotage in 36 easy lectures.

101B—Intermediate Sabotage—In this course, one gets started on actual lab work. You'll be thrilled.

101C—Advanced Sabotage—Field trips are the order of the day in this course. You'll be jailed.

106—History of Spies—All about Mata Hari, her life, her loves, and her passion for waffles.

108—Ethics of Spying (Upper Division Only)—There aren't any —class, therefore, is dismissed every day.

As day follows day, a typical American custom, we wait with bated breath for the announcement from the administration that "Espionage" has been admitted.

'Twould have been instituted this semester were it not for the fact that instructors were at a premium—AND YOU KNOW WHAT THAT MEANS.

At any rate, unless we are very much mistaken, applicants will be sent out any day now from the Gestapo employment agency.

Oh boy, oh joy—we can hardly wait.

Club News

International

Attention, all you politically minded people. The International Relations Club will hold its first meeting Tuesday, September 23, at noon, in Room 219, College Hall.

The club offers anyone with a political theory the opportunity to discuss world affairs from an unprejudiced and objective point of view. It does not support any one idea as to how the prevailing conditions should be treated. Rather, it welcomes new ideas that often arise from the clashing of opinions.

The club has in its library a permanent collection of pertinent books and publications on international affairs.

Come to our meeting on Tuesday, and inquire into the International Relations Club.

Brush 'n' Palette

President Fred Schill today released the tentative plans of the Brush 'n' Palette Club for the coming term. The main activity will, as usual, be the folk dances. The tentative dates are October 3, 17, and 31; November 14 and 28; December 12.

The freshman reception will be held in the activities room on Wednesday noon, October 1. All new students are invited. Refreshments and entertainment will be presented.

Plans are being made to hike to Mount Tamalpias October 12th. All students interested in joining the Brush 'n' Palette should contact Dimitri Mihailoff, the club's treasurer.

Newman

Freshman students will be ushered into their initial glimpse of campus life Tuesday afternoon from four to six at the Sienna House at 350 Buchanan Street, according to President Arnold Vezzani.

Dorothy Govednik, chairman of the affair, announced the following committee heads: Wade Brummal, invitations; Irwin Fumagalli, publicity; Claire Hobrecht and Mary O'Connell, refreshments; Dorothy Govednik and all girl members, hostess committee.

After the reception, refreshments will be served and those who wish to dance may do so.

Tobacco Road Farewell Appearance Opens At Curran On September 21

"Tobacco Road," the world-famous stage play with its realistic story which the picture dared not tell for fear of censorship, is returning to San Francisco for a farewell engagement at the Curran Theater, beginning Sunday night, September 21. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday and seats will be scaled at popular prices. This is the only company presenting the play anywhere and the New York cast is headed by the noted star, John Barton.

Written by Jack Kirkland, the real "Tobacco Road," with its humorous and dramatic story of the illiterate and sex-ridden sharecroppers of Georgia, is the most successful play in the history of the theatre. It ran eight years and 3,180 performances on Broadway and has been presented in 310 cities in 41 states with return engagements of from one to eight times in 214 cities.

LAST TIME

This is positively the farewell tour of the most discussed stage story ever produced and which has been written with the same fearlessness and honesty that characterized the original novel by Erskine Caldwell on which it is based. More than 7,000,000 theatregoers have been thrilled by its authentic picture of life among casual and callous people, ignorant of everything but sex and a distorted religion, whose redeeming quality is their love of the farmland.

John Barton, now in his fifth lear as Jeeter Lester, will give his 1,485th portrayal of the old Georgia sharecropper at the opening performance. The cast, made up of the players of the Broadway company, include Sara Perry as Ada, the wife; Vinnie Phillips, Robert Rose, Merryl Boyden, William Bishop, Sondra Johnson, Dick Lee, Lillian Ardell, William Robertson and Edwin Walter.

MANY LAUGH

Mail orders are now being received for the final appearance of the modern American stage classic. Although primarily a serious study of strange and fascinating people in their native environment, a careful check has disdisclosed 198 hearty laughs in the performance.

Alice Sweeney surprised all this summer by announcing her marriage to Hal Mack. Lucille Murphy announced her engagement.

Bessie Haag Named New Franciscan Editor By Pub Board

At the first meeting of the new term, the Board of Publications unanimously elected Bessie Haag editor-in-chief of the 1942 Franciscan.

Miss Haag, who was appointed City Editor of the Golden Garter last spring, resigned her position in that capacity in order to devote her entire time to the year book.

"Bert Alward, business manager and I are working on a plan to make this year's book one of the best State has produced. With the able assistance of Dean P. F. Valentine, sponsor, we hope to streamline this edition, using a service theme," Miss Haag stated today.

The editorial and advertising staffs have not been selected as yet. Anyone interested in working on either division should apply to Bessie Haag or Bert Alward at the Franciscan office, AA10, or contact them through their post boxes.

Bib and Tucker's, Beth Payne, will say "I do," on Friday evening, September 19.

Beta Pi Sigma

Convening next Tuesday for the first time this term, Beta Pi Sigma, the science club, will welcome new members. Under the leadership of incoming prexie Allan Kruzburger, plans will be made for further meetings.

Dr. Stanley Morse, faculty sponsor, joins with the officers in inviting anyone interested in Biological or Physical Science to come to the meeting. As usual, the group will gather in Room 207, Anderson Hall, at noon Tuesday.

The Alpha Omega girls are treking across the bay, Sunday, September 21, to attend the wedding of Lucille Tackle and Aubrey Welding. The girls will remain on that side after the ceremony to attend a meeting, the first of
